Wheat Crop Is Seen in State

June 15 (AP)—The department of agriculture today forecast a crop of nearly 34 million bushels of wheat in Idaho, a 77 per cent drop from last year.

The forecast was based on a survey of the state's wheat crop made in May and early June.

The survey showed that the wheat crop in Idaho was down 77 per cent from last year's crop of 119,000,000 bushels.

The survey also showed that the wheat crop in Idaho was down 77 per cent from last year's crop of 119,000,000 bushels.

Firemen water down all that is left of a sleek F7U3 that crashed on takeoff from Millington naval air station near Memphis. The navy twin-jet plane was going up for a practice run for a performance at just less than the speed of sound for a navy festival. The pilot and four other persons were killed and eight others were injured. The plane's path is from the top right. (NEA telephone)

Fourth Liquor Vote Sought by Petitions

The possibility of a fourth special municipal election on the question of serving liquor by the drink in Twin Falls loomed Monday night when city commissioners were handed a petition with approximately 1,243 signatures by the Twin Falls Civic Improvement committee. In a letter to the city board signed by Richard S. Robertson, H. M. Iverson and Glenn Wilkinson, the group claims the only intelligent approach to the question is legalized control as provided by statute in the serving of liquor by the drink.

The letter further states that the group realizes this is not a new question to the voters of Twin Falls. "However, times constantly are changing and it is felt conditions have changed sufficiently to warrant a new election," the letter says.

"The question is not whether Twin Falls will or will not have liquor," the letter continues. "It is a question of the proper dispensing of liquor by the drink with the controls that are needed."

The letter claims Twin Falls has a high consumption of liquor... one of the highest per capita in the state, yet "Twin Falls is a little island surrounded by areas where liquor by the drink is easily available. This condition does not lend itself to sensible regulation and is not healthy."

The letter concludes by stating that Twin Falls is not deriving the "many economic benefits" that currently are going to neighboring communities where liquor is served by the drink.

City commissioners will meet at 9 a. m. Saturday to decide whether an election will be held following a checking of the petitions. The law requires signatures of 20 per cent of the qualified electors in the city. If the present petition meets requirements an election will be called within the next 30 days.

The story of the previous three elections held here on the question of liquor served by the drink is one of defeat. The first election was held June 17, 1947, when 2,115 electors voted yes and 2,767 voted no.

The score in the second election held Jan. 24, 1950, was 1,938 yes and 2,277 no, and the third election held June 19, 1952, resulted in 2,581 yes and 2,864 no.

Today's vote requires a period of at least two years between each election.

Mrs. John Lelser, city clerk, said Monday night that each special election costs the city between $800 and $900.

State Range Feed Less Than Usual

BOISE, June 15 (AP)—Idaho's range feed on June 1 was only 77 per cent of normal, the lowest since 1934, the U. S. department of agriculture said today.

The department said range conditions in north Idaho during May improved, but dry weather in southern Idaho kept the over-all average down.

The department also noted that rains in late May and early June had improved the situation, particularly on higher ranges.

Condition of the cattle and sheep on June 1 was slightly below average.

Farmers Are Facing Great Grain Losses

BOISE, June 15 (AP)—Idaho's farmers have been warned that mountains of grain may rot in the sun this summer unless adequate storage space can be found by mid-July.

Carl Izett of the Portland office of the federal commodity stabilization service told a meeting of the federal-state grain storage committee that the shortage of warehouse space is becoming acute.

Losses Feared

He said that a considerable amount of grain may be lost unless a maximum number of railroad boxcars can be kept in the northwest during the summer months.

Quantities of Idaho wheat, Izett added, already are being wheeled into the holds of 130 surplus ships at ports in the Portland and Seattle areas.

The grain committee is made up of Idaho warehousemen, officials of the U. S. and state agriculture departments in Idaho and members of the University of Idaho extension service.

Problem Acute

J. W. Crea, committee chairman, said that the problem is centered in southern Idaho, where hundreds of acres of wheat have been converted to barley.

Many warehousemen, he said, are refusing to accept the barley. Only if every available storage facility is used, he warned, can the grain be saved.

Crea urged farmers to take advantage of 4 per cent federally guaranteed loans which are being offered for the building of farm storage facilities.

Jerome Mass Meet Results Called Minor

JEROME, June 15—The city of Jerome remains "in the same boat" so far as possible purchase of the Jerome water company is concerned, Mayor Theron Ward said Tuesday following a mass meeting and straw vote on the matter Monday night.

The 80 residents of Jerome, including city and water company employees, present at the session, cast 17 affirmative votes on purchase of the company by the city and 37 against it after they heard comment and opinion from Mayor Ward.

Robert Vernon, president of the Jerome Coordinating committee, conducted the session, aimed at providing a cross-section of public opinion.

Flames Big

As the plane came in for a landing, flames from the craft were big enough to illuminate trees on the fringe of the runway.

The greatest concern of most passengers was the loss of their belongings.

At dawn, the passengers went by bus to nearby Woodward where they were put up in a hotel. Great Lakes said it is dispatching another airliner to Woodward to carry the passengers to their destination.

7 Bodies Found

IRAWAKI, Japan, June 15 (AP)—Rescue workers today found seven bodies sprawled near the tangled wreckage of a marine PBM that crashed on a mile-high island peak south of Japan last Wednesday.

There was no sign of the other 10 persons known to be aboard the plane.

The car Eller was driving was forced off highway 30 near Kimberly by oncoming traffic when he tried to pass. His car struck a tree and crashed into an irrigation ditch.

Valley Death Total Hits 18 as Accident Claims Californian

SHOSHONE, June 15—Death of a California man, killed as his speeding auto rolled over six times near Richfield Monday night, brought the death toll on Magic Valley highways to 18.

Lincoln county Deputy Sheriff Fayette Peck said no inquest is planned into the death of Robert E. Clarkson, 46, Courtland, Calif., who was returning to California when the mishap occurred nine miles east of Richfield. The accident raised the state's traffic toll to 72. It was Lincoln county's second fatality of the year. Peck believes the accident was caused by high speed. Skid marks on the road, alternate highway 93, showed Clarkson apparently lost control of the 1951 Ford while rounding a left turn.

Traffic Death Scoreboard

Here is a comparison of traffic fatalities as of this date for 1954 and 1953 for Magic Valley and for the entire state:

Magic Valley, 1953	10
Magic Valley, 1954	18
Idaho, 1953	54
Idaho, 1954	72

Fighting for control, Clarkson apparently swerved the car off the left shoulder, across the road and onto the gravel on the right side, then back over the center line and off the pavement. Clarkson was hurled out and marks on the shoulder indicated the car rolled over six times before stopping, a total wreck. He lived about 10 minutes.

Clarkson was identified through papers indicating he had been employed as a bartender and waiter in Wyoming and Nevada. The car registration was made out to his wife, Mrs. Frances Clarkson, Courtland. She told officers she had expected her husband home this Saturday and that he apparently was en route.

The body was taken to the Burdett funeral home, Shoshone, where arrangements will be made after the arrival of Mrs. Clarkson.

Meanwhile, in Burley, Cassia county Sheriff LaPage Layton said no inquest was planned into the death of Hugh L. Crawford, 71, manager of the Burley Irrigation district, Sunday morning west of Burley.

Mr. Crawford, Magic Valley's 17th traffic fatality, was killed in a two-car collision on Highway 30.

Pilot's Action Spares 78 on Big Airliner

GAGE, Okla., June 15 (AP)—A DC4 passenger plane, with one of its four engines torn off and flames spurring from the fuselage, landed its 78 passengers safely here early today seconds before the craft was destroyed by fire.

The craft, a non-scheduled airliner owned by Great Lakes Airlines, carried 75 passengers and three crew members on a flight originating in New York and destined for Los Angeles.

No one was injured and all passengers had nothing but praise for the pilot, Charles Tedesky, who averted a tragedy with his quick action.

Pilot Acts Quickly

It was no more than eight minutes from the time the plane got into distress until the pilot touched it down safely in a light rain at the airport of this northwest Oklahoma town.

Tedesky said he was flying near Gage on schedule when the fuel pressure gauge suddenly began to fluctuate. He said the No. 3 engine then caught fire and dropped off.

Flames Big

As the plane came in for a landing, flames from the craft were big enough to illuminate trees on the fringe of the runway.

The greatest concern of most passengers was the loss of their belongings.

At dawn, the passengers went by bus to nearby Woodward where they were put up in a hotel. Great Lakes said it is dispatching another airliner to Woodward to carry the passengers to their destination.

Senator Plans No Return Bid

RUPERT, June 15—Charles Collin, veteran state senator from Minidoka county, said Monday that he would not seek reelection.

He said, however, he would file for election to the probate judge's office, now held by appointee L. T. Harper, also a Republican.

Collin, a Republican, has served one term in the house of representatives at Boise, and for the past six years has been in the state senate. He has been an active advocate of reopening Southern Idaho College of Education at Albion.

Harper, former chairman of the board of county commissioners, was appointed probate judge upon the resignation of Jake Wall, present Rupert police chief.

No Democrats have filed for probate judge in the county.

Ketchum Youth, 12, Drowns Near Home

KETCHUM, June 15 — A 12-year-old Ketchum youth drowned in Big Wood river near his home here Monday morning. Arthur Ralph Black's brother, Robert, 15, said the young angler slipped and fell as the pair waded the high, fast Big Wood about 11 a.m. Wearing waders which quickly filled with water, Arthur was swept downstream by the fast current before his brother could come to his aid.

Running for help, Robert met a friend, Harry Williams, Ketchum, who with another Ketchum youth, Mickey Thomas, had been fishing upstream. Williams sought assistance at a nearby house and Robert returned to help his brother.

The body was located about 300 yards downstream caught on a rock in the center of the river after the arrival of the Ketchum fire department about 15 minutes later. Attempts at artificial respiration were futile after the body was recovered by George Kohnnas, Frank Sabala and Lester Jankow, firemen.

The youth was born Jan. 8, 1942, at Ketchum and had lived here all his life.

Surviving are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Black; one sister, Mrs. Vera Cox, Ketchum; another brother, John, 6; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hayden, diagonal; and his paternal grandparents, Mrs. Edith Black, Halley.

Funeral services are pending at the McGoldrick funeral home, Halley.

China Offers "Trade" Deal For Captives

GENEVA, June 15 (AP)—Red China today offered to trade the release of the "law abiding" among 83 American prisoners held behind the bamboo curtain for Chinese students it claims the United States is "detaining."

There was no immediate indication what the Chinese term "law abiding" would mean or how many Americans might be freed under such terms.

The United States has announced that 54 U. S. civilians and 29 military personnel are being detained by the Chinese—red, either in jail or by denying the Americans exit permits.

Among those held are Richard Applegate, National Broadcasting company and former United Press correspondent; and Donald Dixon, International News Service correspondent.

The Chinese blatted broadly that commutation of all sentences and early release of at least some of the captive Americans would be possible if the United States let the Chinese students in question return home.

4-H Clubs Elect Slate of Officers

MOSCOW, June 15 (AP)—James McDonald, Grangeville, is the new president of the Idaho State 4-H association, results of last night's election showed today. He succeeds Bobby Webb, Pingree.

The annual 4-H short course at the University of Idaho continues today with various classes and will end tomorrow evening.

Damp

The next few days in Magic Valley will be cool and damp, predicts the five-day weather forecast received here Tuesday via the Associated Press.

"No fishing and no baseball for a while," moaned the AP reporter as he read this forecast.

"Precipitation will average from 26 to 30 of an inch, mostly near the end of the week. Continued cool. Maximums averaging 68 to 78, minimums 45 to 65." (Probably)

Recovery of $75,000 Ransom Doesn't Close Case, Say Cautious Authorities

June 15 (AP)—Authorities today said the recovery of $75,000 ransom money from a kidnapping case does not close the case.

The authorities said they are still "looking for a second possible suspect" and there may be more than one person involved in the case.

The ransom was discovered in the superstore in the apartment building in the city of New York.

SPOTLIGHT ON CIA?

The administration is properly worried over the prospect there might be public hearings into alleged communism in the central intelligence agency. The glare of publicity never did any sort of intelligence operation any good.

If anyone proposed that the FBI be investigated in open hearings, most lawmakers would be greatly outraged. The CIA performs in the field of foreign intelligence functions roughly comparable to those carried out by the FBI domestically, though there are important differences in method and purpose. The CIA, for one thing, is a collector and coordinator of vital information from all over the world. It tries to evaluate this information wisely so it can gauge the war potential of possible enemies. National policies are founded on the evaluations made by CIA.

For much of the data, the agency relies on foreign intelligence systems of friendly powers. In the view of CIA's head, Allen Dulles, public inquiries into CIA's operations could wreck these cooperative arrangements.

Just like the FBI, the CIA has to protect its informants. If they cannot remain secret, their usefulness is over. The problem actually is more acute for the CIA, since it has agents planted abroad under conditions where exposure would endanger their lives.

In addition, the CIA quite naturally employs active Soviet agents (so-called double agents), communists and former communists in satellite lands and Russia itself.

This "employment" is not the normal sort. These people are used for what they know or what they will do, in espionage, some sabotage, and analyzing data.

We do not want to get rid of such operatives any more than the Russians would cut agents adrift because they were "Americans." We are handicapped enough as it is from a lack of U. S. citizens trained in Russian affairs.

Informed sources say our lines go even deeper, into official Soviet and satellite circles. These are not under our direct control, but from time to time we have been able to tap them for information.

In the administration's view, this whole delicate network would be imperiled if the CIA were put under the spotlight of public congressional hearings.

Since secret operations must of necessity remain secret, how can such an agency be held to any kind of public accountability?

The problem is not an easy one, but some thoughtful members are now suggesting that congress ought to create, on a smaller scale, the type of joint committee of house and senate which watches over the atomic energy commission.

Though there have been a few unfortunate leaks from this committee, for the most part it has discharged its function with high responsibility. No reason is apparent why a similar group could not provide a wise and safe check on CIA without running the risk of destroying its value.

SCARE 'EM STIFF!

It's discouraging to note that highway fatalities in Magic Valley are continuing to run almost double the number up to this same time last year.

It's doubly discouraging when one stops to think that Magic Valley has waged a more intensive drive against highway disasters than has any other section of the state.

Some wiseacre might be quick to conclude that the present "death record" doesn't speak well for our efforts; that maybe it would be better to forget our traffic drive and put all drivers on their own responsibilities.

Law enforcement officials do not agree with any such conclusion, however. Without laws, curbs, restrictions, campaigns and the like, they believe traffic would end up in a wholesale slaughter.

We still cling to the same old argument: Nothing is going to stop all this slaughter on our highways until law enforcement is so strict and the penalties are so severe that every driver will actually be afraid of getting involved in an accident, and by afraid we mean AFRAID!

WISE MONEY

One can hardly be cast down by the news the army is sending some of its officers to school at Syracuse university to find out how to spend money wisely.

The military establishment always has been notorious for wastefulness, even with the finest intentions. Some of this is perhaps inevitable in the nature of military operations. When you are building security for a nation, you cannot safely calculate that you will need only so many bullets and shells and not one single extra load. You must have a margin, and a good one.

Nevertheless, this fact has too often been employed as an excuse for inefficient and unscientific spending. It is heartening that the army understands the problem and is taking the initiative in doing something about it.

No establishment of government is more difficult to police financially from the outside; the control must really come from within.

We've yet to hear any cigaret company tell us what cigaret the man who doesn't smoke would smoke if he did.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—The army-McCarthy controversy has degenerated into such a bitter personal and partisan quarrel that the Mundt committee will reach no definitive conclusion in its report to the senate, and that body will take no action on the twin sets of charges. Rarely has such a sensational congressional investigation promised to be so inconclusive, settling nothing.

The Republican majority cannot afford to condemn Sen. Joe McCarthy for alleged disruption of the military establishment and endorsement of the constitutional authority of President Eisenhower. Nor will it dare to find that a Republican administration resorted to "blackmail and intimidation" in order to close down the McCarthy expose of reds in government.

The four GOPers will file an innocuous report to the effect that there has been blame and misunderstanding on both sides. It will attribute conscious or deliberate guilt to nobody. It will recommend that a better system of cooperation between congressional investigators and executive agencies be established. Its proposal for a study of this problem or borderline power will be pigeonholed and forgotten.

COMPROMISE—The reasons for "the great McCarthy compromise" by the Republicans are principally political. They would be committing party and personal suicide, if they returned a true bill against either party to the dispute.

In the first place, it is now evident that the charges against McCarthy and Counsel Roy M. Cohn were inspired by the White House, not by the mild and naive Robert T. Stevens, secretary of the army. Stevens' testimony, letters, statements and monitored phone calls show that he was not irritated by any pressure on behalf of Pvt. G. David Schine.

Nor did Stevens at first recognize the effect on army morale of McCarthy's "abuse" of high officers. He was pressured into resentment by his military staff, especially by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, the army chief of staff.

MASTERMINDS—Sherman Adams, Ike's chief of staff, Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell, Jr., and William F. Rogers, deputy attorney general, masterminded the army attack on McCarthy, as first delivered in Stevens' letter to Sen. Charles E. Potter, Michigan. It was Vice President Richard M. Nixon who got Potter to ask Stevens for the accusing letter.

It so happens that this quarter—Adams, Brownell, Rogers and Nixon—are Eisenhower's top legal and political advisers. They know politics, whereas he does not, although he is learning the hard way. Thus, it becomes obvious to Republicans on the committee that the attempt to discredit and choke off McCarthy had Ike's full approval.

Chairman Mundt and his colleagues also recognize that they cannot even intimate that there was wrongful or unworthy action by the head of the administration and party. That would be political treason.

VOTES IN OFFING—In view of McCarthy's appeal to millions, especially in the very states which the four committee Republicans represent, they cannot afford to be tough on "Joe and Roy." They don't want the senator to take the stump against them. In fact, they have supported him from start to finish during the hearings.

Moreover, two committee members are up for reelection next fall, and they will need both pro-Eisenhower and pro-McCarthy votes. They are Chairman Mundt, South Dakota, and Henry C. Dworshak, Idaho. Their behavior during the inquiry has been tempered by thoughts of November.

Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen has even more burdensome reasons for assuming a righteous and reasonable position. He lives and runs for office in the shadow of McCarthy's chief journalistic champion, the Chicago Tribune. Again, as chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee, he must be politically impartial. His executive director, Victor A. Johnson, was once McCarthy's administrative assistant.

DEMOCRATIC VIEWPOINT—The Democrats will find fault with both McCarthy and Stevens. They will denounce the senator for his "dictatorial, disruptive and irresponsible methods," and his willingness to upset the system of balanced powers. They will criticize Stevens for his wishy-washy behavior and his kowtowing to the McCarthy-Schine-Cohn group. And they will suggest that the undignified and useless proceedings would have been unnecessary, if Eisenhower and Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson had shown firm and determined resistance to McCarthy in the first instance.

Thus will end this act of the great McCarthy drama.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

GOING TOO FAR
The Wall Street Journal and the National Guardian are seldom found on the same side of the editorial fence.

Both publications, one representing business and the other a trumpet for left-wing causes, registered strong opposition last week to one of Attorney General Brownell's proposals to plug loopholes in the 1950 internal security act. The proposal, now before congress, would make it possible to destroy a private business or a union if the subversive activities control board determined such an organization is communally infiltrated.

Four guides are set up under the bill for determining whether an organization is communally infiltrated. They include "the extent to which persons who are active" in its management are also active in the world communist movement; the extent to which funds, resources and personnel are used to further world communism; the extent to which policies of the organization "do not deviate" from the policies of any world communist organization; and the extent to which a firm or union or group is in a position to impair mobilization of manpower or use of economic resources in connection with defense or security.

The Journal points out that whereas the purpose of the 1950 security act was to expose fronts and action groups and to cut off sources of funds received from unsuspecting contributors, the new bill is so broad that it raises the question as to whether the subversive activities board could not seize the property as well as liquidate the business or union. The newspaper finds the language of the bill so broad and vague that it could be a catchall to injure innocent people.

"The trouble with Mr. Brownell's bill," says the Journal, "is that he seeks not to expose organizations or to punish people for what they have done, but to punish people for what they may be in a position to do." Freedom of speech and press safeguards are overlooked.

The Wall Street Journal is not one to espouse leftist causes. Its warning should carry weight.—Salt Lake Tribune.

SLOPPY JEANS IN BRITAIN

Ernie Hill reports from London that the American garb of blue jeans and checkered shirts infuriates the British. The resentment is so real, he points out, that the American air force in Britain has ordered its men to wear more conventional clothing when they go off base. Ernie confesses some puzzlement over this British emotion and suggests that only Dr. Freud could explain it.

The father of modern psychiatry is not available for questioning so we venture to offer an answer ourselves, in addition to the obvious one of British dislike for most American customs.

A great many Americans don't like blue jeans either, especially on otherwise attractive girls and young women. On boys and men, the sex that normally wears pants, we suspect that the fact often merely affords an excuse for slovenly dress.

But some slovenliness is less irritating to a people like Americans who have suffered very little deprivation in clothing or in other niceties of life. The person who is able to dress up when he wants to enjoys dressing down. But the once well-clad British have been reduced by rationing and taxes and austerity generally to a rather shabby lot. Wearing deliberately faded and wrinkled jeans for fun would not strike them as very funny.—The Chicago Daily News.

Dear Sir:

Your city should do more to publicize its parks. When we arrived here we were tired and dusty, but thought we'd drive on to Sun Valley. Then we spotted that cute triangular park out near the school building. It looked so inviting, we thought we'd just stop and rest on the lawn for a while.

We did, discovered we were hungrier than we'd thought, so drove down toward your business district to get a bite to eat. On the way we discovered what you call your city park. It's lovely!

To make a long story short, we spent the rest of the day and all night in Twin Falls.

But we were disappointed in your Shoshone falls. Isn't there any water left for them?

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NEW YORK—Off and on for some years I have been knowing Ellis Knowles, a New York businessman, a sportsman and a gentleman, who is a great golfer but of subdued fame, being an amateur and 88 years old now.

I last encountered him quite by chance, as we say in trendy circles, at the home of another club golfer, a fellow with a stylish game and a low handicap and a generous wrist for pouring. In Tucson, three years ago, Mr. Knowles was, I gathered, then no longer for competitive golf because he had had a slight bump and was going to accommodate his expenditure to his cardiac income, a rubber-stamp cliché of the specialists from coast to coast. This morose diagnosis was later changed to something he et and life went on.

"I will not try to tell you all the titles and tournaments Mr. Knowles has won for there would be little room left for a feat of astounding delight to all who have suffered the sweet agonies of golf which I am about to enlarge upon.

In the national seniors' tournament at Apawamis at Rye, N. Y., Ellis wobbled to the 18th tee needing a birdie three to tie Joe Wells, the leader of class O (55 to 69 years), who had racked up his card of 148 two days earlier, and gone back to his home in West Virginia with good excuse to believe that he had won the title for the second time.

Ellis Knowles had won it five times and there are many tarnished plaques and pots in the sandwich rooms at Apawamis with his name engraved in the moldering glory of all such eternal ephemera.

Al Laney of the N. Y. Herald-Tribune wrote a vibrant account of Mr. Knowles' feat at the 18th, the more startling because, by some editorial mishap, the H-T forebore to insert comment on the menace of McCarthyism or the good intentions of Alger Hiss. Mr. Laney wrote that Ellis seemingly had blown all chance of survival on the back-nine after breaking the tournament record with a 34 going out.

Needing that birdie three on the 18th, Ellis put his second into a trap 20 yards from the hole.

"And then," Mr. Laney wrote, "he took a niblick, blasted high and holed out for the tie from his almost impossible position. This shot overshadowed everything else that happened in the golden anniversary tournament in which nearly 400 seniors from all parts of the country participated. It was made more dramatic by the fact that Frank D. Ross, Hartford, Conn., the defending champion, playing with Knowles, also came to the last hole needing a birdie 3 to tie."

Mr. Ross, like Knowles, reached for the hole but missed it up, took five and wound up fourth in the list. Knowles won his first title, the intercollegiate championship, as a junior at Yale in 1907. Golf was then an affection of the few whose status with the many was well expressed by an apocryphal teamster who wheeled his wagon on a road near a tee and, after watching a member wobble overlong, yelled, "Hit it, you rich son of a . . .!"

But the twain have met and mingled to the extent that golf has been ardently embraced by him who was patronized as the Common Man as recently as 1933.

It would have taken some doing in the early days of Mr. Knowles' career to impress the unclassified public with the glorious enormity of that shot from the trap into the hole with an old-fashioned stick so crude that few can be found outside museums. Of that Mr. Laney wrote as follows:

"Knowles made his shot with a niblick. In his day they had to get out with a niblick because that was all they had. Today, they have that strange club, the sand wedge, and people are forever holing out from traps. But the use of the niblick for this purpose seems to be a lost art."

Now it is true that experts often hole out with the wedge and equally true that Pegler has done the same by instrument approach with the eyes shut.

But the virtue of this coup extends beyond the mere shot itself, for here was a man not merely hoping but aiming and intending to hole out from an almost hopeless position under pressure of a longing no less great than the urge of a Johnny one-suit at a climax of a round for a title worth $100,000.

Mr. Knowles' 34 outward bound deserves a footnote in some golden book of golf for Apawamis is a surly course and men 40 to 50 years younger have failed to do as well for half a century.

Coming back, he came unstuck and began mauling his second shots and wasting puts. It was an iron, a club which had been untrue to him all the way in, which put him into the trap close to the bottom of a steep wall four-feet high. But the niblick's face eliminated spin and once the parabolic flight was done the ball rolled into the cup in a special way that ought not to be noticed.

The names of the other GAR's of golf in this realm of antediluvians are unfamiliar, all but one that will be honored more and more as the state version of the history of our relations with Soviet Russia is revised toward truth. That competitor is down at the bottom of class A, composed of sprouts of 75 and up with 223 for 36 holes.

He is Adm. William H. Standley, the ambassador to Russia who exposed the fraud of Russian war relief which was milking trusting Americans of millions in money and supplies and using it on the military machine and depriving the starving, shivering civilians for whom this charity was intended.

Many stupid, acquiescent Americans of more or less renown lent their names to this grand swindle. But Standley, in Moscow, proved the embezzlement in spite of Roosevelt, Willkie, Hopkins, and the whole sorry pack, then came home, chucked his credentials on moosejaw's desk and quit in patriotic disgust.

Typewriter Is Spoiling Hank Sojourn on Fiji Isle Paragon

By HENRY McLEMORE
KORO LEVU, FIJI—It is entirely possible that the first two or three paragraphs of this column will make you envious of me.

At the moment I am sitting in the doorway of my "bure," or thatched cottage, looking out over a blue lagoon, over a blue lagoon, over a blue lagoon.

The only sounds are the sighing of the southeast trade winds through the palms, the murmur of gentle waves on the golden beach and the muted thunder of the surf crashing on a far-away reef.

It is such a perfect South Pacific setting that I would not be too surprised if Somerset Maugham, Paul Gauguin and Captain Bligh suddenly popped in on me for a breadfruit sandwich and a cup of coconut milk. Just outside my door, squatting on his haunches and grinning from ear to ear, is a fuzzy-wuzzy Fijian youngster, awaiting my beck and call.

But before you get envious of me, let me point out that I am not jolling on the sand, or swimming in the cool, refreshing water of the lagoon, or paddling in an outrigger, or spearfishing.

Oh, no! I might just as well be at home, for in front of me is a typewriter, and the trade winds seem to be murmuring something about a deadline and how I'd better hurry up and get this off so it leaves Nandi tonight on the plane bound for Canton, Hawaii, and San Francisco.

I sort of wish I were at home, because my typewriter is jammed and I am working on one borrowed from the gracious proprietors of the Koro Levu hotel. I would like you to see this typewriter. It is an Imperial and stamped in faded gold letters just above the keyboard is this: "The Good Companion Model T."

And that is not all. The lay-out of the keyboard is Fijian. The letters are in English, all right, but they are arranged in such a manner that I could use two smart bloodhounds for tracking down some of the keys. It is now only mid-afternoon, but by the time I finish this the Southern Cross will be riding high overhead and I'll be nearly out of my mind.

Would you like me to write a little Fijian for you? Okay. I have a book entitled, "Fijian as Spoken and Written," prepared by the Marxist missionaries, and I will copy a little.

"A yaviti Tomu e na i tokoe e dua na kai Solomoni e sa qaloulu koro e na kena mosi." If a Fijian ever says that to you, you will know that, "A Solomon Islander struck Tom with a stick, and Tom howled with the pain."

If any of you should marry a Fijian girl and you wanted her to wash the dishes just call out, "Dereka na peti!" And if you are tired of talking about the weather in English, next time the subject comes up say to your companion, "Sa vak-

First tankful stops carburetor trouble. Carburetor troubles account for 30% of all engine repairs. No one knew that until Standard scientists discovered the bits of gum, carbon and dust are down into the carburetor. They stick there to form a ring of deposits that choke off the engine's air supply.

Ends rough idling, stalling in traffic. These deposits made engines idle rough, lose power, waste gas, die at stop signs. Then Standard scientists perfected a new "Detergent-Action" gasoline. While you drive, this new kind of motor fuel cleans out carburetors in old cars, keeps them clean in new cars.

Steps up power, saves gas. Thousands of test miles proved carburetor "Detergent-Action" Chevron gasoline and Chevron Gasoline no longer allow at stop signs, they run smoothly, quietly and economically. One test report revealed savings of $1200 monthly by switching to "Detergent-Action" Chevron Gasoline . . . available only at

Hot Heat Wave Still Is Boiling East

By United Press

Hot heat wave, the season's hottest yet, continued for the third straight day.

The relief was on the way in the form of a massive cold front sweeping across the central plains, dropping temperatures 40 to 20 degrees and a squall line advancing from the west, but the cool air wasn't expected to reach the central midwest tomorrow, and forecasters say it may have lost a lot of its bite by that time.

Moving slowly, the front is moving at a 15-mile-an-hour pace today after cooling Nebraska, South Dakota, western Kansas and eastern Colorado. The front broke yesterday, but straight day yesterday, and is expected to repeat the performance today. Chicago, where the front hit 45, had its second record-breaker and its day of over-80 degree temperatures hit hardest at Texas. A cold front swept the range near a wind, rain and hail swept off the top of a huge mountain in the Midwest, spewing oil and snow.

Flag Pole Bent

At Flag Pole Bent, Tex., winds bent a flagpole into the shape of a horse. The pole, half an inch of rain fell in 15 minutes. In the western and northwest areas, down area wheat.

Kansas and Kansas were also hit with heavy rains, as was Texas, with 1.70 inches. Only large areas where fair weather prevailed was from New Mexico to southern California. In the northwest rain fell from California to Washington.

Proposal Urged By 5,406 Names

BOISE, June 15 (AP)—Supporters of the Senior Citizens Security act have filed one-fourth of the names needed to get the proposal on the November ballot as an initiated law.

They filed 5,406 signatures in the office of Secretary of State Ira Masters. A total of 20,479 are needed.

The measure would repeal the state lien law and provide $75 a month to all persons receiving old-age assistance, in addition to medical and dental care and funeral expenses.

Industrial Output Takes Slight Hop

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—The federal reserve board says its index of industrial production, seasonally adjusted, rose by two points in May, to a level of 125 per cent of the 1947-49 base.

It was the first upturn in the reserve board's measurement of the output of the nation's factories and mines since last July, when the business dip set in.

The reserve board attributed the May increase to small gains in the output of durable goods, which suffered particularly in the downturn since last summer, and also in production of non-durable goods and minerals.

Montana Spanish War Vets Gather

BUTTE, June 15 (AP)—Thirty-three veterans of the Spanish-American war answered the roll call of the credentials committee at the state encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans here yesterday.

The thinning ranks of the oldest active veterans organization had an average age of 78 years at the opening session.

Committees for the convention were appointed by Department Commander William Zufall, with the aid of the adjutant, Alford L. Yergey.

LOMA LINDA, Calif., June 15 (AP)—A leading physiologist says that the danger of alcoholism to America "is so great that congressional committees could do as much for the country by investigating in this area as in probing the communist menace."

More than seven million adult Americans, said Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, are either heavy drinkers, addictive drinkers or chronic alcoholics. That is 1 in 14, and the number is increasing at the rate of 250,000 annually, he added.

About 60 million dollars has been spent on the restoration of Colonial Williamsburg, Va., in the last 27 years.

Application of DDT dust or spray recommended by C. W. Daigh, Twin Falls, for potato bugs.
Application at the proper time helps crop damage. The right time, according to Daigh, is immediately after the larvae hatch and before they begin to feed.
The larvae hatch in one to two weeks, and the time to spray is within the next few weeks. The time to tell when the bug is present is when the fields frequently are being examined.

Application of five per cent DDT or a DDT spray of three per cent of 50 per cent wettable powder in gallons of water gives good results, says Daigh.

Applications are heavy, as they are in the valley. The adults are necessary to dust or spray at intervals of three to five days, says Daigh. The early cause injury late in the season. If the original spraying is done well.

potato bug, as it is called by the valley farmers, is the adult stage of the potato beetle.
The adults are about one-half inch long and have yellow and black stripes. Each wing has five dark spots. The eggs are orange and yellow and are about one-half inch long. The color later changes to red. There are two rows of eggs along each side of the leaf.

Young adults eat potato leaves, says Daigh. A moderate population will strip leaves in a few days. Early potatoes are likely to be damaged.

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP)—If the little woman keeps going through your trousers pockets—call the police.

That's the remedy suggested by a Brooklyn appellate court, which ruled yesterday that it's a crime for a wife to steal from her husband—or vice versa.

The decision was made in the case of Harry Morton, 55, Brooklyn, who allegedly found—and kept—$250 his wife Katherine had hidden in her pant supply store.

The appellate ruling reversed an earlier court decision that Morton couldn't be prosecuted on larceny charges because of "the unity of husband and wife."

These days, the appeals judges said, "Husband and wife are not regarded as one." There is no reason, they said, "why either spouse may not be criminally as well as civilly responsible" for what they take from the other.

The national director of claims of the Disabled American Veterans today declared that his organization has been given a "clean bill of forts of "a smear campaign."

Clarence P. Hogan, Washington, said in a speech prepared for the orga-

a report issued recently by the house veterans affairs committee.

Hearings Held

The committee held hearings on charges that a high proportion of contributions received by the DAV were used for administrative expenses.

"Our fellow citizens understand what the DAV has accomplished and are in support of our goals," Hogan said. "We must see to it that every American knows of this report which it contains, so that we can counteract the unfair and untrue

Local Banker Talks to Jaycee Meeting on "Sound Money"

"What Sound Money Means to You" was the topic of a discussion presented by Guy Shearer, Twin Falls, president of the Fidelity National bank, at a meeting of the Twin Falls Jaycees Monday evening at the Legion hall.

Sound money must have a constant value, he said, and an over-supply of money hurts the value of money and results in inflation and too much inflation is disastrous.

He stated the history of the United States has been a series of "ups and downs" and pretty miserable as far as banking is concerned.

However, the American system is as near foolproof as the brains of government can devise and it is up to the young people of the nation to keep the system sound, he said.

Shearer illustrated his talk with a chart and concluded with a question and answer period.

Dean Mosher reported about 120
Jaycees of Oregon and Washington caravans to the national convention at Colorado Springs were entertained by Twin Falls Jaycees over the week-end.

Ivan Stone announced the Camp Fire Girl camp site in the south hills will soon be accessible. A work party is planned Sunday to begin raising the Horizon club cabin being financed by the Jaycees.

President Roy Jessor reminded members the sports almanacs have arrived. Means of disposing of the books were discussed.

Negotiations to sponsor an appearance of the "Grand Old Opry" show here June 25 and 26 were outlined by Howard Harms.

Ben Hughes reported the first annual fourth district picnic for Jaycees and Jay-O-Ettes will be held at the park at Twin Falls June 25 with the Jerome and Twin Falls clubs as co-hosts.

Final report on the teen-age

"roadeo" was given by Robert De-weller, chairman, who announced Lyle Kulik, Kenneth Noack and Yvonne Kulik, roadeo winners, will represent Twin Falls in the state roadeo here July 11.

George Bever was authorized to negotiate for concession rights at the Joey Chitwood show Thursday evening at the Flier fairgrounds.
Howard Harms and Dean Mosher volunteered to assist Bever in the project.

Defense Help Is Stressed at Medical Meet

SUN VALLEY, June 15 (Special)—The president-elect of the Woman's Auxiliary to the American Medical Association says that the wives of the nation's doctors should place special emphasis on civil defense projects in an atomic age.

"We cannot rehearse disaster," Mrs. George Turner, El Paso, Tex., told the auxiliary at the 42nd annual meeting of the Idaho Medical Association.

"But we can prepare ourselves to meet crises to the best of our abilities. Each medical society stands ready to assist with such problems since the primary aim of the doctor is the preservation of life."

Mrs. Turner also urged the women to turn their efforts to the prevention of accidents because "medical science will never produce a vaccine to prevent accidents." She urged them to join in safety programs and develop a conscious responsibility for traffic safety.

Delegates to the Idaho Heart Association, which also is meeting here, laid plans for a memorial fund for heart casualties and a public information program on heart disease and rheumatic fever.

The heart association named Dr. Harvey Hatch, Idaho Falls, president; Robert Randall, Boise, executive vice president; Mrs. Mary Beth Kohls, Boise, executive secretary; Dr. Paul Sharick, Boise, secretary, and William Goodall, Boise, treasurer.

Red Cross Chief Blasts Cities That Get Aid but Don't Repay

LOS ANGELES, June 15 (AP)—E. Roland Harriman, chairman of the American National Red Cross, has attacked cities which accept nationwide disaster aid but don't pay it back.

As examples he cited the tornado-stricken cities of Flint, Mich., Waco, Tex., and Worcester, Mass.

Such communities "can scarcely expect in the future to be recipients of nationwide generosity," he said.

Harriman, addressing the opening plenary session of the American Red Cross national convention last night, recalled the tornado that hit Flint last June.

"Red Cross immediately moved in to meet the needs of the sufferers," he said. "We spent nearly $600,000 contributed by all the country. Meanwhile, a committee in Flint solicited funds and received over $300,000."

Pony Express Is Still Fast Today

TOPEKA, Kans., June 15 (AP)—The Pony Express galloped west again yesterday at such a pace the governor of Kansas had to spur a red convertible 70 miles an hour to catch up.

The 1854 version of the famous frontier mail carriers left Kansas City, Kans., on the first leg of a race across Kansas to Colorado Springs, a distance of 615 miles.

The express raced past Topeka an hour and 5 minutes ahead of schedule and left Gov. Edward F. Arn running behind.

The governor was scheduled to meet the rider Press Sherrod, Kansas City, so he could dispatch some letters. Governor Arn arrived with the mail 10 minutes ahead of the appointed time, only to discover the rider already had breezed through.

Forced to resort to modern mechanical means to recoup, Arn hopped in the convertible and overtook the horseman at the east edge of Silver Lake, some 10 miles down the road.

Appetites of catfish vary with the temperature of the water. They feed heavily at 70 degrees but will not feed at 40.

Rescued

NEWPORT, Ky., June 15 (AP)—The Newport Elks got a parakeet in their walls. It cost them $200 and four hours labor to get him out.

Jerry, the pet of 9-year-old Mary Lou Kehoe, escaped from the Kehoe house and entered the Elks' walls through a hole.

Mary Lou demanded the bird's release. Club members tore down part of the wall and some paneling to release the parakeet.

Ike "Praised"

MILWAUKEE, June 15 (AP)—James C. Petrillo, president of the AFL American Federation of Musicians, said "the only thing wrong with Mr. Eisenhower is that he didn't run on the Democratic ticket."

Petrillo paid Mr. Eisenhower the back-handed compliment yesterday as he reported on recent talks with the President and Vice President Richard Nixon about the repeal of excise taxes on amusements, featuring musicians.

TCP releases power other fuels lock in

Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP* boosts engine power up to 15% by counteracting lead and carbon deposits

You'll feel your engine's had a tune-up before you've finished the second tankful

All of today's gasolines contain deposit-forming compounds. And in a very few hours of driving—even with a brand-new car—lead and carbon deposits form in combustion chambers and on spark plug insulators. These deposits start tying up engine power two ways.

First, as they become heated red-hot in the combustion chambers, these deposits ignite the fuel charge before the piston reaches the proper firing position. This condition is called pre-ignition. Power works against you; not for you!

Second, as these deposits accumulate, they also short-circuit spark plugs, causing them to misfire. Fuel remains unburned, power is wasted.

Now TCP—a Shell-discovered additive—enables you to enjoy full performance from modern gasoline by neutralizing these engine deposits.

Here's how:
It "fireproofs" the lead and carbon deposits inside the combustion chamber. Pre-ignition is controlled. At the same time TCP additive alters the electrical characteristics of these deposits so spark plugs no longer misfire.

TCP acts quickly

Before you've finished your second tankful, you'll feel your engine's had a tune-up. But, remember, because these deposits accumulate constantly, continued use of Shell Premium with TCP is essential to retain its full benefits. It is the greatest gasoline development since the discovery of tetraethyl lead. Shell Premium with TCP is available only at your Shell dealer's.

Care of Your Children

High school students are called upon to talk before groups of classmates, occasionally before the assembled school. Many of them are troubled by stage fright, as is the young student who wrote: "I stutter and stumble when I have to address the class. I never have this difficulty any other time, but only when I have to take the floor. What can I do to relax and talk freely?" Few public speakers escape this moment of fear. Practice overcomes the brief moment and once in stride the speaker forgets everything but his subject. But this does require experience and practice, which is exactly what the teacher is trying to get the student to understand. Some hints may help the beginner but experience piled on experience will help more.

First, thorough preparation. After study of the subject a concise summary of it should be written and if possible, memorized. This will give the speaker a firm foundation for his talk. He should not read it, but talk it and in doing so forget the memorized speech, which he is likely to do anyway.

To ease tension and consequent lack of confidence it helps to have something to hold in the hands. Lay aside on the nearby table. A few sheets of notes, a watch, serve nicely. This gesture allows a moment for gaining poise and it directs the attention of the audience from the speaker for the instant, which is also a help. Begin with a light remark, some personal word that brings the audience to attention and in sympathy with the speaker.

One experienced lecturer always starts off with a sentence such as, "I feel very strange standing here. I'm not sure this can be me." Then he repeats the Mother Goose single that ends, "But I've a little dog at home and he'll know me." Everybody smiles and he is on his way, fright past.

Each must find his own way to courage. Thorough preparation, the will to try to forget self in remembering others, practice will in time ease the terror, at least hold it in leash. Keep trying.

P.S. If making an important appearance, do it on an empty stomach.

Useful hints are the groundwork for happy living and add to mind and character. Dr. Felt explains how to encourage your child to be helpful in leaflet P-14, "Helpful Habits." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, c/o Times-News, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N.Y.

This season's brides

ARE EXTRA LUCKY!

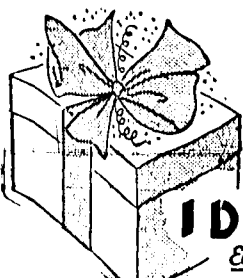

Newlyweds are getting luckier all the time! In their mother's time establishing a home meant the beginning of tedious housework. Electrical servants were few and far between.

Look back to washday, for example. A day over a hot tub scrubbing wasn't conducive to soft hands and a cheerful disposition. But along came automatic electric washers and dryers. Washday in the old sense of the word is gone forever.

This year's bride can look forward with pleasure to her personal electric servants.

They'll make her household chores so much easier—get them done in record time! Happier of all, with Idaho Power's low electric rates, she can have all the electrical help she wants—for a few pennies a day.

P.S. IF YOU'VE A JUNE BRIDE ON YOUR LIST, she needs electrical. There are electrical gifts in every price range—handy, practical, as wonderful to own as they are to give.

Officials Say Defense Test Revealed U.S. Is Long Way From Being Ready

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—Civil defense officials admitted glumly today that the biggest air raid drill since World War II has proved the nation is a "long way" from being prepared to meet a massive atomic assault.

They estimated that millions of Americans would have been killed and injured if yesterday's mock attack on 41 target cities had been the real thing.

Reports flowing into "operation alert" headquarters at Olney, Md., put the imaginary casualties at 2,776,000 killed and 3,344,000 injured.

For 50 cities. Authorities said the total will run higher when other victims cities have been heard from.

In addition to painting a grim picture of prospective horror and destruction, civil defense leaders conceded their nationwide reporting and coordinating system proved to be far from perfect and that public participation might have been greater than it was.

Hells Canyon Test Planned

WALLACE, June 15 (AP)—The National Hells Canyon association plans to go to the courts if the federal power commission rules against a federal high dam on the Snake river, J. T. Marr, Portland, Ore., said.

Marr, the association president, told the Idaho State Federation of Labor convention he expects an FPC decision by early spring and expects it will be against the high dam.

"We are determined to get it through," he said.

The Idaho Power company has proposed three low-level dams on the Snake instead of the high federal dam.

Marr said the Hells Canyon association has raised about 70 per cent of its budget but still needs more funds.

Harrison Hobert, assistant secretary of labor, told convention delegates labor must not be misled into "asking for a bulldozer when only a shovel may be necessary."

Hobert, referring to the present economic situation in the country, said conditions, particularly in terms of employment, are not as good as a year ago "due to a cut in defense and a comedown in abnormal civilian buying."

Europeans Say Prober Fascist

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP)—The view that Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R., Wis., is the leader of a neo-fascist movement out to take over the United States is widely held in Europe, Alfred Kohlberg, an enthusiastic McCarthy supporter, says.

Kohlberg, a New York importer, made public a report on "neo-fascist power" that he sent to McCarthy after a three and a half week tour of Europe this spring.

He said he asked several American officials "what they were doing about the spread of the idea and its complete acceptance that America had a strong fascist movement, which threatened to overthrow the President and take control of the government."

"The answer to this question," he said, "after long explanations and reasons, was that they were doing nothing."

Bever Gets Prize For Best Speech

George Bever, with a speech on Boys' state, won the "white pencil" for the best speech of the evening at the meeting of the I. B. Perrine Toastmasters club Monday evening in the Rogerson hotel coffee shop.

Don Johnson was toastmaster for the evening.

Other speakers were Donald Bailey, who spoke on "The Solution to Our Troubles," and Bob Williams, speaking on "My Vacation."

Kelth Bird conducted table topics during which Clarence Dudley was judged to have the best two-minute impromptu speech. His subject was "Vacations."

Twins Die

ST. BONIFACE, Manitoba, June 15 (AP)—Stamess, twin boys, born with a third, normal boy to a 29-year-old woman here last Friday, died in a hospital incubator Sunday.

The third boy, who weighed four pounds, 12 ounces when he was born 10 minutes after the twins to attractive, dark-haired Mrs. Yvonne Mousseau, was reported in "fine shape."

Doctors said it would have been "absolutely impossible" to separate the twins because they shared common organs from the waist down.

Mrs. Mousseau, wife of a 31-year-old railway locomotive engineer, has two other children aged eight and six.

Uranium Stocks Booming in Utah

SALT LAKE CITY, June 15 (AP)—Reports of negotiations involving the Federal Uranium corporation caused stock of that concern to boom yesterday in over-the-counter trading in Salt Lake City's brokers' offices.

The stock closed at 12 cents a share Friday, but opened yesterday at 40 cents. Brokers said buying largely was by interests in Texas and New York. Heavy selling by local holders of the stock caused prices to drop to 22 cents at the close.

The report told of negotiations between the firm and the interests of Floyd H. Odium, New York financier. They were not confirmed, however.

Chairman Held

TACOMA, June 15 (AP)—O. A. Erdahl, Tacoma, is reported to have been retained as salaried chairman of the Pacific Northwest Utilities Conference Committee.

Gerrit Vandender, Tacoma's public utilities board chairman, said the board felt that the chairmanship should be rotated among the many public and private power agencies represented on the conference committee.

Pleads Guilty

LEWISTON, June 15 (AP)—K. C. Parker, former field auditor for the Idaho income tax division, pleaded guilty to embezzlement in Tenth district court yesterday.

Judge John Cramer ordered a presentence investigation.

Parker was charged in a complaint filed Saturday with "converting to his own use" $3,081.24 of state funds. He is being held in the Nez Perce county jail in lieu of $2,000 bond.

Church Group Blasts "Evils" Of Democracy

CHICAGO, June 15 (AP)—A committee of the World Council of Churches today criticized democracy for permitting "inequality, discrimination, injustice, reliance on naked power, exploitation and aggression."

The committee, in a report designed as a guide for Protestants throughout the world, criticized communism even more harshly for its denial of God and its attempt to replace the Deity with the communist party.

Submission Set

The report was prepared by a committee of eminent Protestant theologians for submission to the council's second assembly in Evanston, Ill., in August.

The report was similar, but milder in terms, than the report of the council's first assembly at Amsterdam in 1948. That report, too, criticized both democracy and communism, and evoked widespread discussion and controversy.

The new report could be modified at the August assembly, regarded as one of the most important Protestant meetings in history. The report will serve as the council's comment on world affairs and the state of mankind.

Two Pamphlets

It consists of two pamphlets, both published by Harper & Brothers. The first, 51 pages, is based on the assembly's main theme of "Christ—The Hope of the World." The second, a 354-page supplement, concerns sub-themes.

Democracy was accused chiefly of failing to put enough faith in God as the ruler of man's destiny.

Huge Growth for Region Expected

SANTA CLARA, Calif., June 15 (AP)—A prediction that the economic growth of the west in the next 15 years will be at a rate roughly double that of the nation as a whole was given the industrial development conference at the University of Santa Clara last night by E. Rapoport, Chicago, business consultant.

The speaker, who is vice president of the California Survey Corporation, San Francisco, coupled his forecast with a warning that conservation of water and resources will need increasing attention on all sides.

He estimated that while the nation's population is increasing by 20 per cent, or from about 162 million to about 200 million, the west's population will grow 50 per cent, or from 20 million to 30 million.

ATTEND CAMP

SHOSHONE, June 15 — Bonnie Resinger and Shirley Bond are attending the junior camp at Cathedral Pines this week. The girls were taken to the camp Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard V. Bond.

Appears Here

GORDON McLEAN

... who will appear in a series of rallies and church services in Magic Valley this week. His first appearance will be Wednesday night at a Buhl rally of Youth for Christ.

Talks Set for Youth Leader

Gordon McLean, youth guidance director of Youth for Christ International, is returning to southern Idaho for appearances in a series of rallies and church services, according to Vaughn Nemnich, director of Magic Valley Youth for Christ.

His first appearance will be at a Buhl rally in the First Nazarene church in Buhl at 8 p.m. Wednesday. On Thursday he will speak at the Congregational church in Paul, Friday at a Youth for Christ rally in Pocatello, Saturday at the Magic Valley Youth for Christ rally in the First Nazarene church here. At 11 a.m. Sunday he will speak at the First Baptist church in Shoshone and at 8 p.m. at the First Baptist church in Castelford.

His nation-wide work in training schools, reformatories and other youth institutions began in British Columbia's Okalla prison when McLean was 16 years of age. Later he visited the Washington state training school for boys at Chehalis, where he later moved his headquarters.

With headquarters now in Great Falls, Mont., the work has expanded completely across the United States and many governmental leaders have endorsed the program, including the governors of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana and South Carolina.

The film "Betrayed," a frank story telling what happened to a boy when his socialist parents took for granted that environment was all he needed, also will be shown at most of the appearances.

Law Officers For State Go To Fire Line

McCALL, Ida., June 15 (AP)—Idaho's law enforcement officers stepped up to the firing line today for the annual pistol shoot sponsored by the State Police Officers Association.

Joining in the contest this year will be 15 of the officers' wives. The officers received warm praise for their auto theft reporting system yesterday as the three-day convention opened.

Dennis Kay, manager of the Pacific Coast division of the National Automobile Theft bureau, said the system could take credit for reducing thefts by more than 30 per cent from 1932 to 1935.

But he added that still greater improvements could be made by increasing public participation in the program. He said motorists should be told to take practical steps for themselves, such as locking their cars and keeping the keys in a safe place.

The association also heard suggestions for improved high school driver training courses and for a system to control bad-check passing by requiring the writer to leave his fingerprints on the check.

Head-on Collision Fatal for Airman

SANDBOY, June 15 (AP)—A head-on auto crash near Albion Falls dam has taken the life of a Spokane man and injured eight other persons.

Clifford Melvin Nelson, 27, driver of one of the cars, was killed instantly Sunday. The owner of the car Nelson was driving, Leo Halle, was taken to a Newport hospital. He remained unconscious more than an hour.

The other occupants of both cars were treated at the Newport hospital for cuts and bruises.

Truman and Petrillo, Notable Musicians, Will Perform Duet

MILWAUKEE, June 15 (AP)—Two well-known musicians named Harry S. Truman and James Petrillo were to swing out today in a piano-trumpet duet of "Hail, Hail The Gang's All Here."

The team of Truman and Petrillo was the headline act at the AFL American Federation of Musicians convention.

Both musicians are better known for other activities—Mr. Truman as former President of the United States and Petrillo as president of the AFM for the past 14 years.

They got together for a jam session to break in a new black mahogany concert grand piano—the AFM's gift to Mr. Truman's memorial library.

The former President, an honorary life member of the AFM since his early days in the White House, was to arrive by air and join Petrillo in their act at convention hall before the critical eyes of 1,100 delegates.

It was the first time Mr. Truman and Petrillo have combined their musical talents.

However, they established musical contact of a sort when, after a far-reaching labor settlement in 1948, Petrillo celebrated the end of an 11-month record ban by cutting a "million-dollar" recording of "I'm Just Wild About Harry."

Mr. Truman was scheduled to wind up the performance with a brief address to the delegates.

It was conceded that Petrillo might bring a slightly more experienced touch to the concert than the former President. He's been a professional trumpet man for 48 years while Mr. Truman, notwithstanding some well-remembered performances on the White House
